MONDAY, FEBRUARY II. 1740.

9:1447.

Saturday, Feb. 9, 1740.

HE most flagitious Empyrick, who has compas'd both Land and Sea, travell'd from Pole to Pole, and cheerfully endured the Inclemencies of Greenland and the Defarts of Lybia, from no other Motive than a tender Love for Mankind, is yet so sensible of the Ingratitude of those for whom he labours, as to despair of the bare Attention of his Auditors, without the Assistance of a certain face-ful Gentleman called Pickle-Herring; whose enterprising Grimaces are of greater Force with the unthinking Crowd, than the ineffimable Discoveries of profound and eloquent Master.

At the Beginning of the Winter, the most despicable among the Mouths of the Opposition, shewed a ridiculous Tricks to move the Mob to buzz a Place-Bill; and when from the Noise made by themselves they fancy'd the whole Nation in an Up-urge, and a few secret Friends, properly distributed, many low Artifices, had raised a faint Approbation from the less considerate among their deluded Admirers, — out stepp'd the Doctors themselves, and with all imaginable Solemnity of Voice and Serenity of Countenance, assured all who listen'd to their Orations, that nothing was so necessary for the Health of the Body Politick as the Remedies recommended by their Servants, who, tho' a little inclin'd to Wag-ger, had said nothing but what was strictly true.

These Orations were pronounced every where, and many of them carried to such unusual Lengths, and repeated so often, as not only tir'd their Hearers, but made them jealous of some other Views than were openly profess'd for such extraordinary Pains, such uncommon and unwearied Application: Till at last their Mob dispersed; and, referring the Importance of what they had said to Persons better qualified to judge of their Merit, their Advice was reject'd, and the Orator they had raised universally condemn'd, and the principal Promoters thereof despised by many who had unwarily been induced to listen to their Harangues with a slight Approbation.

Upon this the venerable Physicians, with some Precipitance, thought proper to slip behind the Curtain; and, lest they might at another time have Occasion for the Voice of as many of the People as could be drawn from the Consideration of their own Interests, the Patch'd Jackets are again sent out, to try, if possible, to make the Rabble separate with a Grin.

For this Purpose, To-day honest Caleb opens with declaring, no Writer that ever oppos'd him, or can oppose him, has the least Pretence to Wit or Humour; and, in effect, that whoever would laugh, must listen to no Man living beside himself. In support of this he assures his Readers he has read Horace before now, and modestly asserts, that if he should be blamed for putting on an Air of Ridicule when he ought to be serious, 'tis no more than Mr. Addison has done before him. — One Thing he has, however, unwarily blabb'd; after observing that Mr. Addison wrote in Defence of the Protestant Succession in his preface to Majesty's Royal Family, he ingenuously confesses that his Labours have taken ANOTHER TURN. This done, he condescends to entertain the Publick with Remarks on his own serious Joke of a Female Administration, spins out that one dull Thought beyond the Patience of the most prejudiced in his Favour, and seems rather to intend an Opiate than a Piece of Humour: For, in the ill-ap'd Character of an Old Woman, he has so mistaken Stupidity for Ridicule, that nothing can more expose his Incapacity for Attempts that look like Wit, than the bare Perusal of the Paper before me.

To his Assistance Mr. Common Sense most opportunely enters, in a Character perfectly suited to his Abilities, that of a CHIMNEY-SWEEPER. — After a short Exercise of the Broom, he lays about him with the utmost Agility: In the first place, he asserts a Chimney sweeper to be as worthy a Seat in the House of Commons as any Person now in Employment; and for any Employment in the State; then, for a Post in the Army. — I was going to pursue his Application of this well-chosen Character; but he sinks into such meaning Folly, such low, thread-bare Allusions, such unseasonable Abuse, and, in fine, into every thing that only a poor and exhausted Imagination could advance, and what none can read without Contempt and Abhorrence, that if I would not grovel with this dirty Writer, I must pass him in Silence, where neither Reason, Wit, Humour, or common Decency can pursue him: — He ought, I must confess, to be view'd in a favourable Light for one Reason; since if he strives to be witty without Success, it must be own'd to be at his own Expense.

Thus, Argument being their Enemy, History being Proof against their Perversion, the Nation united, and the Populace surfeited with their groundless Clamours, their causeless Complaints; we must view these poor Writers with Compassion; nor wonder, in such a Situation, to see the one shrink into a silly old Woman, the other glad to apply his Talents (after a Life so stain'd with Crimes against his Country) to the sordid Employment of Chimney-sweeping, for which he must be allow'd to be much better qualify'd than that of a Politician. — Tho' this Preference I must allow him, that whereas his Brethren of the Brush are sure to smear all they touch, — however dirty he is himself, he is endow'd with the peculiar Property of not being able to daub any body else.

ALG. SIDNEY.

Leghorn, Jan. 23. N. S.

AT the Instant when the Tranquillity of the Island of Corsica and its Commerce with the Terra Firma seem'd to be re-establish'd, an Accident has happen'd which is like to retard that Happiness; for the Kindred of the Parson of Rustno, whom the Marquis de Maillebois caus'd to be hang'd, as formerly mention'd, having an Opportunity of apprehending six French Grenadiers, made Reprisals upon 'em, by hanging up every Man of 'em on a Tree in their Regimentals; which so exasperated the French Marquis, that he has sent a Detachment of Miquelets, &c. to seize them and bring them to Bastia.

Naples, Jan. 20. N. S. The new Colonel des Albanois, of the Caraffa Family, has made a Present to his Sicilian Majesty of the Sword or Sabre with which the famous Scanderberg fought with Soliman in the Reign of Ferrand King of Naples. The Name of Scanderberg appears upon the Sabre, with other Inscriptions, grav'd in Letters of Gold. This Monument of Antiquity was always carefully preserv'd by that Colonel's illustrious Family.

Hague, Feb. 6. N. S. The Cold here is not quite so violent as it was upon New-Year's Day, when it was more severe by several Degrees than it was in 1709, and exceeded by four or five Degrees that which the French Academicians experienced in Lapland in their late Travels in that Country, as appears from a Thermometer made after the Model of those which they carry'd thither. Several of the common Thermometers have burst by the Violence of the Cold. All our maritim Towns suffer very much for Want of fresh Water, all the Canals having been froze for five Weeks. And so great a Mob went upon this Occasion to demand a Supply from the Magistrates of Amsterdam, that they were oblig'd to set a Number of Men at Work at a great Expence to break the Ice for several Leagues to the Place where the River Amstel throws in fresh Water.

Brussels, Feb. 12. On the 10th, when the Prince de Lichtentstein, the Emperor's Ambassador to the French Court, was created a Knight of the Golden Fleece by the Duke d'Artemberg he gave him three Strokes with the Sword, one upon his left Shoulder, saying, Rise up Knight in the Name of God; a second upon the Head, in the Name of the Virgin Mary his Mother; and the third on the Right Shoulder, in the Name of the Lord St. George.

Versailles, Feb. 18. N. S. The Death of the late Duke of Bourbon has pay'd the Way for the Reconciliation of his Brother the Count de Charolois with the Cardinal de Fleury, who having wrote a Letter to the Count upon that melancholy Subject, the Count immediately waited on his Eminency, and they conversed together for near an Hour and half; since which time it appears, that the Reconciliation is cordial and sincere. The Funeral Ceremonies of the late Duke were very pompous: 'Tis computed that 150 Pound Weight of Wax Candles were burnt every Day while he lay in State, and that the Expence of keeping his Corpse at Paris and of its Removal to Enghien was not less than 300000 Livres. The Count de Charolois has caus'd all the wild Boars to be kill'd in the late Duke's Menagerie, and the Flesh to be given to the Poor of the Parish. The Count being generally belov'd at Paris, there's a universal Satisfaction upon his Return to Court, by reason of his Good-nature, and the Vivacity with which he dispatches Business. King Stanislaus has presented the Cardinal de Tencin to an Abbey of 30000 Livres Revenue. Prince Cantemir has Orders from Court to buy a Pack of Terriers here and send them to Petersburg.

Dover, Feb. 8. Remain the Pearl, Price, for London; the Triton, Robertson, for Leghorn.

Last Night the following melancholy Affair happen'd here. The Lieutenant of his Majesty's Ship the Lark, attended by some of his People, with a Constable, and Mr. Richard Larkins, Boarder of Dover Castle, who had a proper Warrant from his Grace the Duke of Dorset, &c. to impress Seamen for his Majesty's Service in the Cinque-Ports, went to the House of one Ralph Hall, a Topsham Man, residing here, who swore he would shoot the first Man that should attempt to lay Hands on him, he having a Fowling-Piece in his Hands for that Purpose: When after some time expostulating with him, Mr. Larkins attempted to go up Stairs to him, when the said Hall shot him dead, after which he made his Escape for that time, but was apprehended this Morning, and committed to Gaol. The Deceased bore the Character of a very peaceable, good-natured Man, and has left a Wife now with Child, and several small Children.

The only short and infallible Cure

For that reigning Disease the SCURVY, and all Scorbutick Humours, tho' arriv'd to the highest and most inveterate Degree, or of ever so many Years standing, and that without any sensible Evacuation or the least Purgings, which by an unaccountable Mistake is generally advised, although always found rather to increase and confirm the Scurvy than cure it.

By the so much famed and most pleasant Chymical DROPS:

WHICH, without the least Trouble,

Confinement, or any Disorder whatever, do at once strike at the true Cause of the Scurvy, and intirely destroy it, and all Scorbutick Humours and Effects, Root and Branch, so as never to return again, as many Thousands of both Sexes have experienced, and as all who take them in 3 Days time will be convinced, for they almost instantly alter the morbid State of the Juices, purify the Blood, sweeten all the Fluids, cleanse them from Impurities, and directly clear the whole Habit from all Spots, Bloaches, black and blue Marks, Itchings, foul Eruptions, or Breakings out, Weakness of the Limbs languid Heaviness of the whole Body, wandering Pains, Weakness of the Back, and all the vast Variety of Symptoms by which the Scurvy imitates and often lies concealed under the Appearance of the Rheumatism, and many other Distempers.

And for strengthening the Stomach, immediately creating a good Appetite, causing a regular and easy Digestion of Food, and curing all windy Effects and Disorders of the first Passage (whence proceed Head-achs, Vapours and other indispositions) no Bitters nor any other Medicine upon Earth can compare with them, inasmuch that besides infallibly curing the Scurvy in all its Shapes and Appearances, they also assuredly and immediately cure the Green-sickness in Virgins, Worms of all Kinds in young or old, and almost all other Chronic Diseases, (which are chiefly occasioned by Indigestion and stantent Crudities in the Stomach and Bowels) and certainly prevent Fevers, Agues, and other acute Illnesses.

They are wonderfully Cordial and Restorative, strengthen and enliven the whole Machine, and as soon as taken, make the Patient pleasantly Lightheaded, Bristle and Vigorous to admiration, and are good for all Sorts of Persons, to preserve as well as to procure a sound and healthy State of Body.

But the great Reputation these so much fam'd and pleasant Chymical Drops have so universally gain'd among Persons of Eminence, for their suddenly and infallibly curing the Scurvy and all Scorbutick Humours, and other Chronic Diseases, in such an easy and agreeable Manner, have occasioned many to imitate them, some under the same, and others under other Names: Be careful therefore not to be deceiv'd; but be sure to have the Right, which by the Author's special Appointment, are to be had only at the Gentlewoman's, at the Two Blue Posts, in Haydon-Yard, in the Mitre-Office, at 3s. 6d. a Bottle, with Directions.
